

HOUSE PASSES STRIKE CONTROL BILL

KELLY'S MIND
UNCHANGED ON
AID TO CITIESMAYORS AND COUNTY
OFFICIALS PUT ON PRESSURE

BY ARNOLD LEVIN
Lansing, Feb. 7 (P)—The battle by Michigan's city mayors and county supervisors for one-sixth of state sales tax returns broke over Governor Kelly today but the chief executive—undaunted as he faced a 40-man delegation—asserted "there was nothing in their arguments to make me change my mind."

Confronted action by the city and county officials to force an aid bill through the legislature loomed as the Michigan Conference of Mayors and State Supervisors' Association agreed on and presented to Kelly this proposed distribution of the state's estimated $27,600,000 surplus:

$4,000,000 to raise state employees' pay.
$3,200,000 for teachers' salaries.
$8,800,000 to be distributed between hospitals, universities and colleges.

Rebate of all surplus revenues collected between July 1, 1946, and June 30, 1947, to townships, villages and municipalities on a population basis.

Problems Not Studied

At a press conference after his meeting with the delegation, the governor declared that "I am convinced those who make these recommendations haven't studied the various or health problems."

"These gentlemen haven't made a survey of state needs," he continued. "They have drawn their conclusions only from local problems, they aren't against my program."

"The state can't build it. The construction industry of Michigan says it can be done and we will do it."

Two appropriation bills providing state financial aid for local governmental units are before the legislature—

one introduced by Rep. David E. Young of Searsville and Andrew Bolt of Grand Rapids calls for an amount equal to one-sixth of sales tax revenues while the other, by Senator George N. Higgins, of Ferndale, would peg the state's share of the sales tax at $90,000,000 yearly and refund a maximum of $18,000,000 to local governments from any surplus.

Local Needs Vary
Kelly asked the mayors and supervisors who called on him how much of the money returned to them would be spent for capital improvements and was told by Mayor Edward J. Jeffries of Detroit that "you'd need a treatise to show how 1,900 government units would spend the money."

Some cities, he said, need the money for capital improvements and others for operating expenses.

The governor pointed out that under the Bolt-Young Bill, four counties—Wayne, Oakland, Genesee and Kent—would receive $522,000 of every $1,000,000 returned and asked for "a poll of representatives of those counties on how much they would spend for capital improvements and the need for them so we can have a test between state and local needs."

He was told by Charles A. Larnard, Muskegon, chairman of the supervisors' board of directors, that townships needs vary and "we would use the money for whatever the people want to spend it for."

Larnard, who presented the city-county plan to the governor, said the rebate in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1946, would amount to approximately $17,000,000.

Truman Backs Pauley
Over Criticism, Won't
Withdraw Nomination

BY WILLIAM R. SPEAR

Washington, Feb. 7 (P)—President Truman today solidly backed Edwin W. Pauley over the criticism of Secretary Ickes, and said he would not withdraw Pauley's nomination to be undersecretary of the Navy.

The president told his news conference that Pauley is an honest man and that the Secretary of the Interior can very well be mistaken in his testimony that Pauley made the "rawest proposition" on oil and campaign funds that Ickes ever heard.

As the president discussed the controversial Pauley appointment, the Senate Banking Committee was looking into far-flung private business interests of another presidential nominee, George E. Allen, proposed as a director and probably as chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Allen, who is a presidential adviser, said his income had increased from $9,000 a year in 1939, when he was District of Columbia commissioner, to about $50,000 annually at present.

He told of receiving a $28,000 yearly salary for handling public relations of the Home Insurance Company of New York, and listed 25 other companies in which he is an officer or director.

Mr. Truman's firm endorsement of Pauley, wealthy California oil operator and former Democratic treasurer, made it clear that he fully credits Pauley's denials of the statements made by Ickes at the hearings of the Senate Naval Committee. The hearings, sifted Pauley's qualifications for the No. 2 post in the Navy, are in recess now until Monday.

DRINKING SPOTS
GET CLEAN-UP

BY WILLIAM R. SPEAR

Lansing, Feb. 7 (P)—The State Liquor Control Commission set out today on a new program to clean up drinking spots, as three members of the House of Representatives struck back at its announced policy of eliminating social memberships in licensed clubs.

C. A. Parrish, chief of the commission's enforcement and licensing division, told a school of commission inspectors that they were to cite for revocation of licenses any of the 7,000 table-top establishments in the state which failed to adhere to a new set of sanitation rules.

The new regulations include requirements that all establishments have hot and cold running water from a source approved by a health department, that all equipment be kept clean at all times, that all doors and windows be screened, that each establishment have two tanks and a power spray or three tanks for cleaning glasses, that each have separate flush toilets for men and women, and specified in detail approved processes for cleaning glasses.

A resolution submitted to the House by Reps. Mark Jenema, Falmouth, Charles N. Feenstra, Grand Rapids, and John D. Kruse, Manistique, all Republicans, opposed the commission's policy forbidding social memberships in clubs.

The resolution stated the legislature would be opposed to the policy and that it conflicted with state law.

FALL PRIMARY
DATE SHIFTED
TO JUNE 18THOPENING OF BASS
FISHING SEASON
IS AVOIDED

Lansing, Feb. 7 (P)—The House of Representatives approved a bill today to hold the usual fall primary elections on June 18—the second change in dates from what Governor Kelly had recommended.

The chamber moved the primary a week ahead of the date recommended by a committee on the grounds the later date fell on the opening of bass fishing season.

The June 18 date, if approved by the Senate, would require nominating petitions to be filed by April 23 and state political conventions to be held by July 8.

New Agency Favored
The early primary was proposed by Kelly to permit sufficient time for ballots to be distributed to and received from overseas servicemen before the Nov. 5 general election.

House and Senate leaders appeared to be agreed on the creation of a new agency of government, a postwar victory building board. It was advanced when the legislative appropriating committees balked at giving the regents of the University of Michigan, the State Board of Agriculture, the State Board of Education, the State Mental Health Commission and the Administrative Board Authority to allocate construction funds for the institutions which they control.

The new board would be composed of four members of the House Ways and Means Committee and four of the Senate Finance Committee plus the Administrative Board.

The administration bill providing $3,300,000 for the University of Michigan building program was advanced to position for a vote Monday night, with Michigan State college's $3,000,000 and the mental hospital's $5,700,000 appropriations only one leap behind it.

Railway Merger Approved
Rep. Charles R. Feenstra, Grand Rapids Republican, blocked a move for an immediate vote on the university appropriation, asking his colleagues to consider over the week-end that only 12 per cent of war veterans will enroll in colleges, but that 88 per cent "must stay home."

"What are we doing for that 88 per cent?" he asked. He said he would drop out of classes as soon as economic conditions settled and that "in four or five years we will be left with a lot of excess baggage on our hands."

The Senate passed and sent to the House bills permitting a merger of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad and the Pere Marquette Railway and to legalize contract with minors who have been war veterans.

Fact-Finding Board
Votes 16-Cent Raise
For Meat Workers

Chicago, Feb. 7 (P)—The American Meat Institute declared tonight a proposed 16 cent hourly wage increase, announced by a government fact-finding board and approved tentatively by AFL Meat Cuts Union leaders, "is unfair to the industry."

The federal fact-finding board in the meat packing wage dispute tonight recommended a general wage increase of 16 cents an hour for the 90,000 production employees of the five major meat packing companies.

There are more than 175,000 employees in the entire meat packing industry, the board said.

Of the 16-cent increase, the board proposed that five cents be absorbed by the companies without price or subsidy relief. It recommended that the government approve price or subsidy relief covering the other 11 cents.

The panel also proposed that Secretary of Agriculture Anderson "promptly present" the wage recommendation to the wage stabilization board for approval. The increase cannot become effective until that agency approves.

Companies involved in the recommendation are Armour, Cudahy, John H. Morrell, Swift & Co. and Wilson & Co.

The board did not announce a finding as to what effect, if any, the wage increase would have on meat prices. But it quoted data furnished by Swift & Co. during its hearings to the effect that an 11-cent increase would necessitate a rise of 44 cents per 100 pounds in the wholesale price of dressed meat.

The AFL group first asked a 25-cent hourly increase but, during negotiations before the strike, was reported as agreeing to accept 20 cents. A minimum wage of $36 for a 40-hour week also was requested.

The CIO union offered to compromise its original 25-cent hourly increase demand for an immediate 17 1/2 cents raise, with negotiations to continue on the remaining 7 1/2 cents.

Highest offer from any packer, the unions said, was a 10-cent hourly boost.

BRIGGS AND CIO SETTLE WAGES

New Contract Providing 18 1/2 Cent Increase Is Signed

Detroit, Feb. 7 (AP)—The Briggs Manufacturing Company and the CIO United Auto Workers today signed a contract calling for an 18 1/2 cent hourly wage increase for hourly rated workers and a 15 per cent boost for salaried employees receiving $500 a month or less.

Walter O. Briggs, Jr., said the contract covers 12,000 workers who turn out bodies for Packard and Chrysler motor cars. The firm also manufactures plumbing equipment. He estimated it will employ upwards of 30,000 workers when the firm reaches full production.

Briggs said the former hourly wage was 92 cents, which hereafter will be $1.10 1/2.

Melvin Bishop, a UAW regional director, headed the union delegates, who included George Falls, president of Evansville, Ind. Local 265, which covers the 2,000 Briggs workers outside Michigan.

The Briggs and UAW spokesmen also announced selection of James F. Dewey as a permanent impartial umpire in all disputes.

Dewey, a former assistant secretary of labor, has mediated many disputes in the auto industry and is currently serving as special federal mediator in the General Motors strike—now in its 79th day.

Geologists Back From Service Will Receive Training

Washington—Young geologists who have been so long in the armed forces that their geology may have become a bit rusty are offered on-the-job retraining under a new program that has been set up by the U. S. Geological Survey. This will be available both to members of the Survey who are returning to their jobs after war service, and to new members whom it will be necessary to add to the field forces. The retraining instruction will be limited to the types of operation required in the regular work of the Geological Survey, and expenses will be met out of the Survey's regular funds.

Young geologists whose scholastic or professional training was interrupted by the war are expected to complete this, as far as possible, in regularly established university departments of geology. Scholarships available under the G. I. Bill of Rights can be used for this purpose. Heads of geology departments in a number of leading universities have indicated their willingness to cooperate in the present program by offering study courses particularly at the Geological Survey's immediate needs. Among these universities are Chicago, Columbia, Harvard, Johns Hopkins, Princeton and Yale.

Formal announcement of the retraining program will be made in the forthcoming issue of Economic Geology, which will be off the press in a few days.

Returning Soldiers Of Japan Bitter As People Ignore Them

Tokyo, Feb. 8 (AP) (Friday)—Premier Kijuro Shidehara appealed to Japanese in a radio broadcast last night to give a warmer welcome to their returning servicemen. Many have reached their homes to find their funerals long since held and the public stolidly indifferent to their problems.

Shidehara promised an intensive government effort to relieve the plight of such men, who know "the sorrow of disillusionment."

Officers at the demobilization ministry told the Associated Press that repatriated servicemen are growing increasingly bitter because the people, worried over their own affairs, ignore the ex-soldiers' "present situation and past sacrifices."

Increasing unemployment, along with public displeasure at food distribution, will sharply affect balloting at the March 31 election, the local press conceded today.

Communists will begin a three-day convention Feb. 24 seeking to ease with fresh publicity their previous demand for removal of the emperor. They now favor a plebiscite on his status.

Bramble Shark Now In National Museum

Washington—A bramble shark, one of the oddest fish in the world as well as one of the rarest, has just been added to the collections of the U. S. National Museum here. It is the only specimen of its kind known to be in North America. Its six-foot-five-inch body is covered with short, sharp spines; whence its name.

Zoologists who examined it stated that it is certainly not a man-eater; on the contrary, its defensive armor suggests that it is a passive, probably sluggish creature, wanting only to be let alone. Its peculiar arrangement of fins, as well as the general flabbiness of its body, indicate that it is a weak swimmer, and probably a deep-water dweller.

The specimen was taken in a net by Capt. John DiMeglio, off the California coast near Los Angeles. He sent it to the California State Fisheries laboratory, which forwarded it here. Previously taken specimens have been collected off the Atlantic coasts of Europe and Africa.

MICRO-MOTION FILMS STUDIED

Professor Shows 2 Hours Of Little Life Dramas In One Minute

Cincinnati, Feb. 8.—Motion pictures of the self-repair of injured nerve cells, the rescue of red blood corpuscles "lost" in body tissues outside their regular channels, and other intense little life dramas as seen through the microscope were shown here this evening before the University of Cincinnati chapter of the Society of the Sigma Xi, national science honor society, by Prof. Carl Caskey Speidel of the University of Virginia.

The pictures were made by the time-lapse or fast-motion method, in which one frame of the motion picture film is exposed every two, four or eight seconds. When the finished film is projected at normal speed of 16 frames a second, from a half-hour to two hours of life and action are compressed into a viewing time of one minute. Prof. Speidel first began work on his micro-motion films in 1932, and he now has a library of 10,000 feet of carefully selected and edited pictures, both colored and monochrome, covering a wide variety of biological subjects.

In the nerve-injury films, an anesthetized frog tadpole is held on a glass slide before the microscope, which is carefully focussed on nerves in its flat, transparent tail. Re-growth of fibers injured in various ways has been recorded. Of special value in medical work are pictures showing nerve self-repair after injury by the three "shocks" methods used in the treatment of some forms of insanity: insulin, metrazol and electricity.

Sometimes, in connection with other types of injury, red blood corpuscles come out of the capillaries and become lost among the cells of other tissues. Helpless to get back into circulation themselves, yet too valuable to abandon, they are literally saved by the building of a rescue road. From one of the smaller lymph vessels, the body's auxiliary circulatory system, a short outgrowth pushes its way among the cells to the place where the lost corpuscles are. A channel develops down the length of the outgrowth, and through it the rescued corpuscles move back into circulation. If, however, they are so situated that they cannot be rescued in less than two days they have to be given up as lost, and what might be termed a burial party of white corpuscles makes its way out to them and disposes of them.

Several sequences in Prof. Speidel's films showed the complex process of mitosis or division in different types of animal cells, both under normal conditions and after injury by such medically important agencies as electric shock, mustard gas, sulfa drugs and starvation. These shots of cell life also included the last act of all, the death of the cell.

Diseases of the heart and arteries constitute the number one killer among life insurance policyholders today, accounting for nearly one-third of all policyholder deaths annually.

Twelfth century tribesmen in the Central Urals had shoes with inch-thick iron soles which wore so well they were sometimes passed along for several generations.

KELLY'S MIND UNCHANGED ON AID TO CITIES

000 and defined it as "money the state could not spend in its building program and which people on a local level could use to relieve their situation."

"This is a question of judgment, gentlemen," the governor declared. "You ask that all the programs of the state not previously appropriated for be confined to $8,800,000. Have you considered state parks? Have you considered the state's welfare program? Do you still want your $2,700,000 for Wayne? How much would that leave me for all other state needs?"

Larnard asserted that the $17,000,000 is proposed by Governor Kelly's program for capital outlay and "the state already has $26,000,000 for that purpose which it can't spend."

Up To Legislature
"The money not only can be spent but it must be spent," the governor countered. "We can't carry on an educational program for the veterans without these appropriations."

"The matter is in the hands of the legislature," the governor finished, promising to study the city and county officials' proposals.

Later, Kelly said that "we educate the veterans now or don't educate them at all. Not one mayor will say 'you close out some of the veterans so we can have some money in our cities.'"

The chief executive's program, submitted to the special legislative session, asked $15,000,000 for educational and $8,000,000 for mental health purposes.

A special committee report adopted by the supervisors' directorate said it "does not accept the argument, however, that a choice must be made between meeting needs of veterans in the field of higher education and those of local units," the report read.

The meeting with the governor was marked by Mayor Jeffries' efforts to break in with explanatory material and Governor Kelly's waving him aside with "I'm talking to your chairman here."

When Jeffries finally outlined the proposed distribution of monies and Kelly said "that's just what I wanted," the mayor countered with "that's what I've been trying to give you."

Lyon Trio Program Is Well Attended

Nearly a capacity audience attended the opening of the Town Hall series last night at the William W. Oliver auditorium, when Ruby Spencer Lyon and associate artists presented the first program of the season.

Miss Lyon, soprano, Jennie Gaudio, violinist, and Magdalen Massman, pianist, presented a varied program of light classical numbers which found favor with the large audience.

Miss Lyon's soprano voice exhibited remarkable range in Charpentier's "Depuis le Jour," and Arndt's "In Bacio," a perennial favorite of both concert singers and audiences. Her interpretation of the simple and melodious "Into the Night," followed by the lilting "Come Unto These Yellow Sands," seemed more effortless, and drew much applause, to which Miss Lyon responded with an amusing encore, "The Little China Figure."

Miss Gaudio chose for her first selection two works by the 19th century violinist, Wieniawski. Clarity of tone marked her playing of the "Romance," from his Concerto in D Minor, which was followed by a familiar Brahms' "Hungarian Dance." Two songs of Fritz Kreisler and the popular Nocturne of Chopin found great favor with the audience. Miss Gaudio responded with an encore, "Intermezzo."

Miss Massman as an accompanist showed admirable restraint and understanding. As a soloist, she played with verve and assurance, receiving much applause for her capable interpretation of Liszt's "The Fountains," and Schubert's "By the Sea," as well as for the brief but charming "Habenera," by Ravel.

Miss Massman concluded with a brilliant and unusual selection, "The Juggler," by Ernest Toch, modern composer of music for the films. Her two encores were perhaps slightly disappointing to many of the audience who had hoped for something more vigorous.

The program concluded with a medley of light opera songs from "Naughty Marietta," "The Vagabond King," and "My Maryland," by Ravel.

Presented by all three artists.

Other numbers on the Town Hall series this year will include Paul Robeson, the Trapp Family Singers, Iva Kitchell, and the Orpheus Choral club.

SENATORS WILL END FILIBUSTER

Backers Of FEPC Bill Prepare To Shelve Their Measure

Washington, Feb. 7 (AP)—Backers of the fair employment practices bill virtually threw in the sponge late today and arrangements were underway to end a four-week filibuster southerners have conducted against the measure.

The Senate agreed to vote at 4 p. m. Saturday on a motion to limit debate. On all sides, legislators predicted privately that the two-thirds majority needed to carry this motion would not be forthcoming, and that the bill would be shelved.

The measure would have set up a three-man commission to guard

presented by all three artists.

Other numbers on the Town Hall series this year will include Paul Robeson, the Trapp Family Singers, Iva Kitchell, and the Orpheus Choral club.

Southerners, on their long fight against the bill, argued variously that it was an invasion of state's rights and would increase racial tension. Senator Bilbo (D-Miss.) contended it was an attempt to "mongrelize" the American people by letting down barriers between the white and Negro people.

Some northerners also opposed the bill, although stating their agreements with its objectives, but many others backed it as necessary to end injustices and vindicate the principles for which the war was fought.

7 DAYS STARTING SUNDAY

COUNCIL HAS LONG SESSION

Many Matters Not On Agenda Come Up For Discussion

Rent control, the housing situation, the St. Lawrence Seaway project and a number of other matters not listed on the agenda came up for discussion at last night's regular meeting of the city council which lasted almost until midnight.

The council, acting on a request from the Chamber of Commerce housing committee, authorized the city clerk to check property lists here to ascertain what homes might be converted into two or more apartment dwellings. The unofficial survey will be used to aid the committee in its efforts to secure badly needed living quarters for war veterans and others here.

The council also asked City Manager A. V. Aronson to investigate the rent situation here after hearing a letter from the U. P. Labor Advisory Committee, sent to the council by Chamber of Commerce Secretary Roy Overpack, in which it was stated that "the rent situation has reached alarming proportions and is a direct threat to the economic welfare and development of the district." Councilmen asked the city manager to look into claims that many landlords here were charging excessive rates because there is no rent control.

Summary of Action
A summary of council action last night follows: Council—

Recommended a letter expressing Escanaba's approval of construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway be sent to the Michigan Great Lakes Tidewater Association for use at the hearing in Washington this month on the project. Councilman Nelson did not vote on this motion.

Appointed F. H. "Ted" Baldwin to the library board for a four year term.

Accepted the bids of Walter Wickert of $110 each for three lots, Nos. 9, 10, 11 in Block 11, City Center, third addition; bids of Bethany Lutheran church of $205 for Lot 15, Block 13, I. S. Company plat in North Escanaba; bid of Nick Perish of $210 for Lot 11, Block 38, I. S. Company's second addition in North Escanaba; bid of $255 on Lot 11, block 13, I. S. Company by Edward E. Lewis, 1206 N. 18th street.

Authorized the city manager to make specifications and ask for bids for neon signs and a beacon on the city's new water tank.

Decide Rental
Decided that the rental charge to the Delta Furniture company for the part of the Steele-Wallace building it occupies will be $80 monthly, the lease will be on a year-to-year basis and the company will assume inside maintenance costs. There was a lengthy, detailed discussion of this matter before action was finally taken.

No objectors appeared to challenge the changing of the zoning ordinance to make all but the north 90 feet of Block 47, Campbell's third addition, a local business district instead of a class A district and the first reading of the new ordinance was heard. This change permits extension and remodeling of the Oberg gas station by the Standard Oil company and confines the business district there to that property.

Decided that it was inadvisable to sell any of the trailer pumps acquired here during the war for civilian defense purposes. Rental of a pump was also considered but the council decided that no city equipment should be rented except in cases of real emergency. There have been frequent requests in the past to rent the city's steam shovel, concrete mixer and other equipment.

Unanimously endorsed the resolution of the Michigan Conference of Mayors and Supervisors that one sixth of the state sales tax, on a per capita basis, be returned to cities, villages and townships for use in post-war projects. The state has acquired a substantial surplus from the tax revenue from which has increased from 33 million dollars in 1933 to an estimated 108 million this year.

Took no final action but recommended a study of the proposal of the Winter Sports Club "to develop a suitable speed skating track or area for the development of general skating and speed skating in some desirable location in Ludington park."

The club asked that the city "undertake whatever action may be deemed necessary to make a study of this proposition to establish the use of this area for the winter season of 1946-47."

EYE BANKS NOW HELP SIGHTLESS

Supply Healthy Corneas For Restoration Of Vision

By NEA Service
New York. (NEA)—Eye banks, similar to the well known blood banks, are being organized on a nation-wide scale so that 10,000 to 15,000 of the estimated sightless persons in the United States may have their sight restored.

In certain categories of blindness healthy corneal tissue may be grafted upon eyes to replace tissue that has become cloudy or opaque, but the operation is very difficult and few surgeons are qualified. Few blind persons, individually, could avail themselves of this opportunity, but the recently created Eye Bank for Sight Restoration, Inc., hopes to make this dream come true for many.

As its name implies, this organization is actually a bank—an institution whose capital stock is human eyes. Healthy eyes removed from persons immediately after death are sought by the Eye Bank.

Tissue must become immediately available for transplantation. Under present methods, this tissue can be preserved for only 72 hours. Speed is imperative. One of the prime functions of the Eye Bank is to obtain eyes promptly after they are removed, and preserve them for grafting upon the eyes of those who are accessible for the operation.

Sponsored by a council of 75 leaders in the fields of science and business, the Eye Bank with headquarters at 210 E. 64th St., New York, is extending its work throughout the United States.

Forest Research Needed

NINE of every 10 acres of the Upper Peninsula of Michigan is forest land, a total of 9,300,000 acres of forest land; yet only 13 per cent of the total, or 1,200,000 acres, remained in old growth saw timber in 1945. The tremendous demand for lumber and other forest products during the war years has materially hastened the depletion of the remaining old growth stands of timber in Northern Michigan.

The potential timber-growing capacity of the Upper Peninsula is sufficient to maintain a large number of forest industries permanently and to provide a better living for the 16,000 farmers and 400,000 population of the peninsula. To achieve this result, however, good forest management is essential, along with an adequate program of forest research.

A practical demonstration of forestry possibilities in the Upper Peninsula is provided by the Upper Peninsula experimental forest located 20 miles southeast of Marquette. This small forest unit of only 5,400 acres, operated by the Lakes States Forest Experiment Station, provided up to six months employment to 51 local workers in 1944, primarily in cutting and hauling forest products under a plan of permanent forest production.

For the maximum development of the forest regions in the upper peninsula, considerable expansion of the forest research program is necessary. Some of the studies that are desirable under such a program include the following: forest research surveys to determine the future growth possibilities of aspen, balsam, fir and spruce lands, particularly those near natural industrial centers; a study of forest taxation and insurance problems; studies to improve forest protection for stands of various types of timber and varying ages; possibilities of planting bare lands and conversion of inferior forest types to more valuable ones, with particular emphasis on feasibility from the standpoint of cost; and improvement of growth and timber quality through better forest management practices.

The cost of such a research program is not excessive, estimated at about $50,000 annually. The practical results of such a program, however, would be of tremendous value to the entire Upper Peninsula.

Within the past two years Congress has provided funds to forest experiment stations in every major forest region of the United States except the Lakes States area for the establishment of forest product service units, which work a liaison service between the Forest Products Laboratory at Madison, Wisconsin and the wood using industries of the respective regions. Such a service can be provided at the Lakes States Forest Experiment Station at an estimated cost of $25,000 per year. Better forest utilization is the objective of such a program.

The utilization of aspen and scrub hardwoods, much of which is now going to waste in the upper peninsula, would be one of the main studies in such a program. The importance of this is readily recognized when one considers that about 40 per cent of the present forest areas of the Upper Peninsula now produce these species of timber.

Yamashita Will Hang

GENERAL Yamashita has lost his last hope to escape the gallows for his war crimes as Japanese commander in the Philippines and by order of General MacArthur Yamashita will die an ignominious death, stripped of his soldier's uniforms and military decorations.

In upholding the death sentence imposed on Yamashita, Gen. MacArthur has denounced the Japanese general for his purposeless brutality and for his utter failure to observe the code of the soldier. The most damning accusation made by the U. S. supreme commander in his rejection of Yamashita's plea for clemency were these words: "He failed his duty to his troops, to his country, to his enemy, and to mankind. He has utterly failed his soldier's faith."

By the execution of Yamashita, the world will know that there still are some rules of international law and justice under which war criminals are forced to pay the penalty for their misdeeds. The guilt of Yamashita is his, but it is also the guilt of the Japanese people who permitted perverted militarism to rule and to run over into the peaceful lands of Japan's neighbors.

Correlated Troubles

HOW closely the various labor disputes in the country are correlated was indicated in Detroit Wednesday when Labor Mediator James Dewey expressed the opinion that the steel strike must be settled before the General Motors dispute can be straightened out.

Dewey has been appointed to mediate the General Motors strike and had high hopes of bringing that troublesome problem into solution at an early date. Since then behind-the-scenes maneuvering in Washington has brought forth the probability of a new government policy concerning wages and prices. The policy will be adopted first for the steel industry and then used as a basis for settlement of other strikes.

The result is that the General Motors negotiators are merely biding time. If increased prices are authorized to compensate for increased wages in the steel industry, which seems probable now, the formula will be used to settle the GM strike and, presumably, all of the other major labor disputes now clouding the industrial horizon.

In any case, settlement of the General Motors strike in advance of the settlement of the steel strike would mean nothing, even if that were possible. You still cannot manufacture automobiles without steel.

Happy Days

THE president of Bennington College thinks that Americans have grown too dependent on Broadway, Hollywood, and the radio for the standards of their artistic tastes, and suggests that the best hope for a rebirth of culture and artistic activity is to go back to the local community.

This suggestion should find many supporters among those who suspect that we were a happier and more intelligent country back in the days when a housewife went about her morning work singing, instead of listening to soap operas.

LESS THAN HALF THE STORY

(Grand Rapids Press)

One of the most critical shortages which threatens to hamstring our national building program this year is that of lumber. Yet, according to the National Retail Lumber Dealers association, the foreign economic administration last year authorized the exporting of 750,000,000 board feet of lumber. When it first announced early in 1945 that its export program called for shipment of 1,000,000,000 board feet, it offered the glib defense that that figure represented only 3 or 4 per cent of anticipated production.

Here, it might be noted, is an excellent example of how to cover up by resorting to the use of statistics. In quoting the percentage figure the FEA actually told very little of the whole story. It did not, for instance, note that its figure was based on an optimistic appraisal of what the lumber industry might do in 1945. The fact that labor disturbances plagued the industry for a good part of the year resulted in a reduction of output. That fact is implicit in the FEA's failure to ship all the lumber it had planned to. Other factors which it avoided taking into consideration were a shortage of seasoned wood and the transportation situation.

Actually the lumber FEA exported last year would have provided sufficient material for the construction of from 75,000 to 100,000 private dwellings—or about 20 per cent of the homes we hope to build this year.

The real point is that neither our present stocks nor our reserves give any reason for optimism. We are not now in a position to export lumber, and from the standpoint of uncut timber our position is far less favorable than that of several other countries. Moreover we have a critical need at home for all the lumber we can produce. These are the all-important facts not revealed by FEA's non-committal figures.

12 O'CLOCK CLOSING

(Iron Mountain News)

Licenses in the city of Marquette have agreed to close their bars at 12 o'clock, instead of the hour fixed by the state law, 2 o'clock. The proposal did not come from them, but from the city commission. The commission is by no means dry; it is liberal. It was moved to action, it appears, by the seriousness of the problem of juvenile delinquency. It had no legal authority to enforce a 12 o'clock closing. But, as it has a lot to say about licensing, it was not probable that many of those holding licenses would stand out against it.

The connection between earlier closing of licensed places and juvenile delinquency is difficult to discern. Licensees, for the most part, have been for some time doing everything they could to keep minors out of their places. Where liquor figures in juvenile delinquency it is usually bottle liquor, obtained, perhaps in devious ways, from the established sources of supply. It is easy to conceive of juvenile delinquents getting liquored up in licensed places before starting out on their wayward exploits. But except in unusual cases this doesn't happen.

Marquette will doubtless find that the closing of the bars two hours earlier than has been the practice will leave its juvenile delinquency problem untouched. Liquor figures in some of it; it does not figure in many cases that cause most trouble and concern. Its roots go deeper than liquor. They are found in bad home environment, breaking down, or surrender, of parental authority, and the restlessness of post-war times.

No superficial dealing with the question of when liquor can be sold and how it can be sold will materially lighten the problem it presents.

A WORD TO THE WISE

Sometime ago I coined the term "stoplights of speech" to designate those pronouncements or mannerisms which snap the listener's attention, and cause his mind to switch from what is being said to how it is being said. I chose the word "stoplight" because it accurately describes the manner in which the listener's mind puts on the brakes and comes to a full stop the instant a speaker or broadcaster uses an

Washington—The attack made by John Stelle of the American Legion on General Omar Bradley of the Veterans' Administration has had exactly the opposite effect it was intended to have. It has served to call attention to the remarkable progress that Bradley has made since he took over the difficult job of administrator.

During his six months in office, Bradley has completely revised the medical service of the VA. He has broken through the bureaucratic monopoly to open up the service to top medical men.

The new administrator has made an excellent start toward tying in the Veterans' hospitals with the latest research in the foremost medical institutions in the country. Under the old regime, they were almost completely cut off from new medical developments.

Those most competent to judge, including Dr. Howard A. Rusk, one of the nation's leading authorities on Veterans' Rehabilitation, have found Stelle's charges to be unjustified. Dr. Rusk reports tremendous gains in the Veterans' Medical Service and increasing confidence from both veterans and the public.

HOSPITAL SITE DISPUTES

Much of Bradley's time has been spent settling disputes over where Veterans' hospitals should be located. In the past, political influence too often dictated where they should be built. Congressmen sought them for their districts as political plums with which to reward the folks back home. The result was that they were often situated in isolated communities hard to reach and remote from any center of medical research.

Bradley is trying hard to reverse this pattern. He has stood out like a rock of honesty against all pressures to build Veterans' hospitals in locations that would penalize the patients by enforcing lonely isolation and by shutting them off from the main stream of medical progress.

Patiently and good-naturedly, yet with unyielding determination, he has said no to all the special pleaders. It has not been easy. The easy way would have been to "go along" with those arguing for favored sites.

The issue of a site for a Veterans' hospital has been brought into the dispute Stelle has raised. The Legion commander was urging a site known as the Knights of Pythias home site in Decatur, Ill. This was originally offered, according to the Veterans' Administration, at $125,000. On Bradley's recommendation, based on the opinions of hospital experts, another site was chosen which cost not more than $44,000.

LEGION SHOULD EXPLAIN

At the insistence of the Legion, the choice was reconsidered, but again, on the basis of all factors, including price, the lower cost site was selected. On the day that Stelle issued his blast against Bradley, the VA received a wire saying that the Knights of Pythias Home Site had been reduced to $75,000.

Stelle has said that he took an interest in the site as a member of a Legion committee. With the decision of the Federal Hospital Board, on Bradley's recommendation, his interest ended, he said.

But in view of the way in which Stelle's charges have bounced back, it would seem to be up to the Legion to give a fuller account of what the dispute is about. The Legion commander said, for example, that 7000 veterans were awaiting treatment, but of this number, only 482 have disabilities connected with their war service.

Between World War I and World War II, the Legion became a very effective pressure group. Some of its work, especially in local communities, was good. But too often the pressure tactics seemed to benefit the small group that dominated the organization.

With some 12,000,000 new veterans coming out of the war just ended, the pressure tactics of the past will not suffice. The best interests of all veterans demand a broader approach. That is what Bradley is trying to bring about, and he deserves his chance.

erroneous pronunciation, or indulges in any linguistic trick that is unorthodox, pompous, or affected.

This is an extremely important fact of which all public speakers need to be frequently reminded.

Let us say that we are listening to a speaker on the Town Meeting program. He has our complete attention as he scores one convincing point after another. But suddenly the red light flashes STOP! as he says, "I have bean told that..."

An announcer is extolling the excellence of a new radio receiving set. His voice is pleasing, his delivery is polished, and his sales talk has us almost reaching for the check book. But his "automatic wreck-chord changer" slams on the brakes.

An elderly commentator's "Rush-ee-un" and "Rush-ee-un" cause the spotlight to blink so impellingly as to make it impossible to follow his analysis of foreign affairs.

A woman broadcaster who has just discovered the broad A, creates a veritable traffic jam as she bumbles, "I have bean aghast at the vahst disahster at the air-crafft plahnt."

Every public speaker should constantly be on his guard against any distracting mannerism that might act as a spotlight. Of course, it is difficult to make an accurate and critical appraisal of one's own speech, but it may be done with the aid of a friend or relative.

I have found that stoplights fall into two groups: (1) mispronunciations; (2) affectations. My recipe for the first is: Consult a good dictionary; for the second: Be yourself.

Good Morning!

By The Bugler

THE SIMPLE AGE—In these days when juveniles cut their teeth on a Buck Rogers cosmic ray gun and seriously debate radio contact with the moon they are far removed from the simple days of their parents, whose reading was composed of a series of books designed to teach a moral lesson, and to bring joy and gladness into their lives.

Perhaps the "Adventures of Bobby Twins", the "Elsie Dinmore" series, and the Tom Swift books contained more sweetness and light than the present younger generation could stomach. At the same time the books of that simple age at least could not be accused of perverting either morals or manners. Possibly they were a reaction against the "Deadwood Dick" type of literature prevalent in those days, and read surreptitiously in the haymow or behind the wood shed.

THEY WERE SERIES—No author of juvenile books would for a moment consider writing a book which did not have possibilities of developing into a long and impressively titled series. If one book sold, it was good for at least a dozen more with the same principal characters.

Tom Swift and the Rover Boys, for instance, went "Under the Sea," "Down the Mississippi," "In the Rockies," "On the Glacier," "In Their Aeroplane" and elsewhere with little regard for the dangers involved in such adventures. When they ate or slept, or went to school, was never made known to the reader. Their lives were devoted to pursuing adventure.

The adventures, however, were of a sort which were not improvable under the circumstances—but the circumstances were highly improbable. Boys and girls were not so well informed in those days, and the author could, and did, take considerable liberty with his factual background.

AND THE BOY SCOUTS—Typical of the lack of fact in many stories were the series of "The Boy Scout" books popular some 30 years ago. One of the most preposterous was "The Boy Scouts at the Pictured Rocks, or the Mystery of the Little Brass God."

Apparently the Pictured Rocks in those days were little-known, and the author took all sorts of liberties with his locale. There were caves into which large boats sailed, and where "smugglers" had their hide-out. The Boy Scouts (for some reason never quite clear) journeyed to the Pictured Rocks from Au Train, skipping Munising altogether. But with true Scout preparedness they foiled the smugglers, wig-wagged and flashed warning messages to each other, were captured and rescued and generally had a hectic and altogether satisfying time. What "The Little Brass God" had to do with it is now fortunately forgotten.

SHOWING THE TREND—About the same period there was a series of books for girls—"The Radio Girls." They were written at the time radio was in its infancy, and wireless dots and dashes spelled adventure to the younger generation. It was at that time also that boys made their own wireless receiving sets by winding wire on two "Mother's Oats" boxes, and attaching a hunk of galena and a "tickle wire" and two dry cell batteries. With a set of earphones

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago—1936

Manistique—The frozen body of Lawrence Curran, 38, Doyle township resident, was found near noon today about a mile and a half from the Curran farm home on the River road with a bullet hole through the forehead. Tracks in the snow indicated that Curran had struck a snag with his snowshoes and that his .22 caliber rifle had discharged as he stumbled and fell.

Beginning its fourth month of active operations, the Works Progress Administration has 17,000 persons on its payroll and 192 projects under way in the western half of the Upper Peninsula.

20 Years Ago—1926

W. J. Hutton, a resident of Escanaba for 66 years, will celebrate his 77th birthday anniversary at his home here today.

Charles Gallagher, who has been visiting at the home of his mother, Mrs. Anna Gallagher, left Sunday for Milwaukee. He will work aboard the steamer Waukegan of the West Pork Steamship company.

You could pick the sound of those magic dots and dashes out of the air.

THE RADIO GIRLS—The publisher of The Radio Girls series hailed them as "a new and up-to-date series, taking in the activities of several bright girls who become interested in radio. The stories tell of thrilling exploits, out-door life and the great part that Radio plays in the adventure of the girls and in solving their mysteries."

For instance there was "The Radio Girls of Roselawn," or "A Strange Message from the Air," and "The Radio Girls on the Program, or Singing and Reciting at the Sending Station," and "The Radio Girls on Station Island," and "The Wireless from the Steam Yacht," and "The Radio Girls at Forest Lodge, or The Strange Hut in the Swamp."

The titles pretty much tell you what to expect. The girls, all extremely talented for their ages, rescue a kidnapped witness, sing and recite "over the wireless," help send rescuers to a burning yacht, and in the last volume put out a forest fire and "round up some undesirable folks who occupy the strange hut in the swamp." No one could accuse the girls of frittering away their time.

ALWAYS MYSTERY—Popular with the bloomer and middie girls were the books of May Hollis Barton, "whose style is somewhat of a mixture of that of Louise M. Alcott and Mrs. L. T. Meade, but thoroughly up to date."

The Barton books included "Four Little Women of Roxby," "The Queer Old Lady Who Lost Her Way." This story was of "four sisters who were keeping house and having trouble to make both ends meet. One day there wanders in from a stalled express train an old lady who cannot remember her identity. The girls take her in, and later, are much astonished to learn who she really is."

THE CLASSICS—Elsie Dinmore is gone these many years, the Radio Girls have been off the air for a long time, and the Curlytoes and the Bobby Twins are nearly forgotten. But the classics for juveniles go on forever.

"Treasure Island" still packs its punch, Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn bring laughs and tears, "Black Beauty" is equally absorbing to young readers, and "Heidi" wanders endlessly in the imagination of boys and girls. "Peter Pan" is another that never grows old in the world of books, and "Alice in Wonderland," and "Through the Looking Glass" are fascinating whimsies.

G. I.—VETERANS SERVICE

Q. If a man was released when 38 years of age to go into essential industry, would he be entitled to mustering out pay?

A. Not unless he had overseas service before discharge.

Q. My sister was married to a Navy man who died in action. She is receiving a pension and insurance. If she remarries, would she lose both?

A. Remarriage would not effect the national service life insurance, but the pension would be discontinued.

Q. Are mustering-out pay, unemployment payments and disability pension considered taxable income?

A. No.

OF GENERAL INTEREST

Q. What is the origin of the State name Arizona?

A. State historical records say that the name comes from "Arizona" (Ari - small and Zonac - spring) in the Papago and Pima Indian language. The Spaniards adopted the name as early as 1736.

Q. What is the origin of the quotation, "In the field of Destiny we reap as we have sown?"

A. It is from "Raphael" by John Greenleaf Whittier. The stanza reads:

"The tissue of the Life to be
We weave with colors all our own,
And in the field of Destiny
We reap as we have sown."

Q. What is casene?

A. A dry white powder made from the curd of skim milk, composed of hydrogen, carbon, nitrogen, sulphur, and phosphorus.

Q. What is brain fog?

A. An excess of mental work, worry or excitement, combined with insufficient sleep is likely to be followed by brain fatigue. Inability to concentrate on intellectual work, restlessness, and inability to sleep are symptoms.

There may be physical reasons for brain fatigue and a physician should be consulted, for treatment.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Q. What are kabobs?

A. They are made by stringing pieces of meat, quarters of onions and two-inch pieces of bacon on sticks in alternate layers and broiling them over coals. Either beef or lamb cut in one-inch cubes may be used. Veal kidneys, either alone or in combination with pieces of lean meat, add interest to kabobs. For well-done meat, allow space between the pieces; for rare meat, pack them closely together.

Q. How may I restore some of the finish to a fiber rug which I want to use next summer?

A. Give it a coat of clear cellulose nitrate lacquer.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Of the many officer-enlisted men inequities which have contributed to poor Army morale, one of the least-known, but most unfair, is the system of brass-hat disability payments.

Under this system, full colonel who never moved out of his chair in the Pentagon building during the war may be declared "totally disabled" if he is suffering only from ulcers brought on by too much celebrating in Washington night spots. In this case, the "Disabled" Colonel would be placed on the retired list and draw three-fourths of his base pay, or $250 a month, for the rest of his life. If he has three years' service, a longevity allowance would increase his pay to $262.50 a month. Furthermore, and this is one of the nicest pay-offs, which most people don't realize, this payment is tax exempt.

Now, let's consider an enlisted man who lost his right arm in combat and is, therefore, very seriously disabled. According to law, the Veterans Administration pays this man a pension of $125 a month. Enlisted men's pension scales for other disabilities are: loss of both legs or both hands—$200 a month; loss of one leg above the knee—from $104 to $138.50 a month; pulmonary tuberculosis, insanity, and body wounds not involving an anatomical loss—$115 a month.

The Colonel who was declared "totally disabled" because of ulcers may get well in six months' time, but he continues to receive full retirement pay for life, because he is not required to undergo any subsequent physical examinations after retirement. He just keeps on drawing his money.

However, it's a different story with G. I.'s A. G. I. with tuberculosis, neuro-psychiatric condition, or any other service-connected disability from which he may recover, must undergo an examination by the Veterans Administration once a year. His pension is reduced according to his improvement, and it may be stopped entirely if the doctors declare him cured.

Colonels totally disabled in combat get no more retirement pay than the swivel-chair colonel with ulcers. Furthermore, the latter can get another job in civilian life and supplement his pension, while the man who loses an arm or a leg sometimes can't.

It is high time Congress began looking into the Army's pension system and—more to the point—did something about it.

—A FAT ANTHONY EDEN—

British members of parliament don't see much difference between the imperialist foreign policy of the conservative party and the new labor government.

Senator Claude Pepper of Florida was lunching at the House of Commons, following a speech by Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin which had upheld the very same policies as his predecessor, Anthony Eden. From one table of conservatives near him—and he thinks the speaker was former Prime Minister Winston Churchill—Pepper heard this remark:

"I sat and listened to that speech and I thought to myself, 'My, how fat Anthony Eden has grown!'"

—BILLO'S FRIENDS DESERT—

There was more behind the resignation of Ed Terry, secretary to garrulous Senator Theodore Bilbo of Mississippi, than the ill health which he reported to the press. Actually, Terry was sick from overwork, trying to hold down three jobs at once, but also he was very sick of his race-baiting boss.

Terry told friends that he feared the widespread criticism of Bilbo's demagogic antics might be injurious to his own future career after the Mississippi voters finally turn Bilbo out to pasture. There is a chance such might happen this year when the talkative senator comes up against Ex-Congressman Ross Collins in a stiff primary race.

Terry has been functioning as clerk of the senate district committee and the joint National Memorial Stadium Commission—now studying a proposed all-weather, closed in, $25,000,000 athletic stadium for the District of Columbia. After a rest, he may take a job with a group of New York bankers interested in financing the stadium.

These bankers evidently see eye-to-eye with Terry on Bilbo, for they have quietly been pulling wires to get the latter ousted as chairman of the stadium commission, and Senator Jim Mead of New York named in his stead.

—CAPITAL CHAFF—

The admirals can't say so publicly, but they are up in arms over Ed Pauley's appointment as Under Secretary of the Navy. Chief reason: Ward has gone round that Pauley is for amalgamation of the Armed forces. There has been a sharp drop in the number of so-called "operation" flights by officers stationed at Andrews field, Washington, D. C., since enlisted men staged a protest against being kept in the army to service planes for generals' joy-rides. Some politicians predict that the conviction of Mayor James Curley of Boston may endanger reelection of five-term Democratic Senator David Walsh. Friends of President Truman haven't forgotten that Walsh snubbed Truman during the 1944 campaign, and now it's probable that the Curley machine will go Republican this year, thus taking away some of Walsh's support.

Men are about the only people on earth who think they have more sense than women.

Too many cooks don't spoil the broth any more. They don't stay long enough.

An obstinate child, says a psychologist, may become a genius. Plenty of parents will be glad to hear this.

SPELLDOWN IS PLANNED HERE

Honor Society Sponsors Contest At School March 5

A National Honor Society all-school spelling contest will be held March 5, Miss Irma Bangs, sponsor of the local honor society, announced yesterday. The contest will be held at a special assembly on that date.

Each English class of the sophomore, junior and senior grades is now conducting spelldowns to determine the class winner. At the assembly spelldown each class will have a representative and each grade will spell down their members until there are but three persons left on the stage representing the tenth, eleventh and twelfth grades. These three will compete to decide the school winner.

The first list of words used in the contest are the most common ones misspelled during the year in the various classes in high school. These words are selected from written work the students turn in to the teachers and are given the English classes to study.

The idea of a spelldown originated in order to keep the aspiring employee of a downtown business office more alert to the forms and spelling of words. Such contests have been sponsored by the local National Honor Society since 1938.

Colorful Display Of Northern Lights Seen Here Thursday

An unusually colorful display of Aurora Borealis, or northern lights, was clearly visible here early last evening and prompted a number of inquiries to the weather bureau by local residents.

Henry Hathaway, U. S. meteorologist, said that clouds obscured the lights Wednesday evening and that the auroras frequently last as long as 60 hours.

The displays are believed to be caused by the encounter of electrons from the sun with gases, such as krypton and nitrogen, in the upper rarefied atmosphere, the "World Book" says.

The auroras almost always gum up teletype machines at the Daily Press and last night's was no exception.

Sir Thomas Moore's "Utopia" was issued in Latin, translated into German, French and Italian. Not until 35 years had passed and the author had been dead 16 years was it put into English.

TORNADO TIME SIGN OF SPRING

Violent Twisters Appear In South Then Move To Midwest

Washington—The tornado season is here. Reports of these violent, intensely localized twisting windstorms may be expected from the South at any time now; indeed, one or two of them have already "jumped the gun" and made their appearance during January. However, February and March is the more usual tornado season in the Gulf states, and as spring advances the tornado belt shifts northward, eventually into the Corn Belt.

In a way, tornadoes are the A-st, over-rough harbingers of spring, for they are born of contacts between warm, moisture-laden air moving inland from the Gulf of Mexico and the stagnant cold of continental air still hanging over the land. The same collision between moisture-laden and chilled air masses is responsible for the torrid rains that accompany and follow tornadoes, in turn causing the sudden floods that aid in the disaster toll caused by the wind.

In view of the number of "harmless" tornadoes that occur

each year and the difficulty of predicting the path of the storms, the U. S. Weather Bureau maintains a policy of never issuing tornado warnings. Because of the extremely small chance that a tornado would strike a given place, the weather experts feel that they would spread needless alarm by permitting the public to look into the future.

A tornado seldom lasts longer than an hour and in any one place rarely more than a minute. The average path is about 30 miles long and only 1000 feet wide, so narrow that the U. S. Weather Bureau advises that if underground shelters are not available one should try to run out of the path of the approaching storm.

The tornado itself is a whirling vortex or funnel of winds, reaching high up into the sky. It travels from 25 to 40 miles an hour in most cases; occasionally less than 10 or more than 60. The velocity of its whirling winds has never been measured but, judging by the destruction they do, engineers say their speed must reach 300 to 500 miles an hour. In the storm's center a slight vacuum is created which is responsible for many of the astonishing feats credited to tornadoes. When this area of low pressure surrounds a house, it literally causes the structure to explode, because of the higher normal atmospheric pressure remaining in the house, which must have immediate outlet.

Expectant Mothers
Should Eat Meat

BY WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Eat plenty of meat. A generous serving at least twice a day is the advice of Ruth M. Leverton and Thelma J. McMillan (journal of the American Medical Association) give pregnant women. A group of women who followed this plan had higher hemoglobin and red cell percentages, less tendency toward swelling of the body (edema), and better success in nursing their infants.

Studies of the diets of women during pregnancy reveal that the amount of protein eaten seldom equals the National Research Council's recommendation of at least 85 grams daily; it averages less than 60 grams daily in about one-half the cases. As meat is a good source of protein, it is recommended to expectant mothers as an easy way of helping meet their special needs.

Easy To Eat

Meat was selected as a source of extra protein because the quantity and quality of the protein in meat makes it easy for the average pregnant woman to eat. Meat also contains iron and has a high rating in appetite appeal.

To be certain that the test women received "plenty of meat," each was supplied with a five-ounce serving of meat daily (three-fourths of the time it was beef) in addition to their regular meals.

Although the number of women who took part in the experiment is not great, those who had the extra ration of meat apparently were benefited. Those who received vitamin B complex in addition to their regular diet did not derive much more benefit from its use than those who ate their regular meals with no additions.

Meat Eaters Red-Blooded

One month before delivery the women who had extra meat for three months had an average increase in hemoglobin and red blood cell percentages of 10 to 15 per cent. Most noticeable difference was found one month after delivery, as their blood was in the best condition; none of them had any swelling and more were able to nurse their babies.

The old idea that meat was harmful to pregnant women is based upon the finding of albumin in the urine in one of the complications of pregnancy. As albumin is a form of protein, it was assumed that it originated from the meat in the diet. This is not the case, as the urine albumin comes from kidney trouble and not the diet.

Plan Meeting Of
Home Ec Leaders

Problems encountered in the dyeing of household fabrics will be discussed at meetings of Delta county home economics leaders to be held Tuesday and Wednesday next week, it was announced yesterday by E. A. Wenner, county agricultural agent.

Mrs. Emily Parker, Marquette, district home demonstration agent, will be present at both meetings and will lead discussion in the topic of home dyeing of household fabrics. Besides being more economical, especially in these days of shortages, the dyeing of fabrics can lead the way to new life for the fabrics and more cheerful colors in the home.

First meeting of home economics leaders will be at 10 a. m. Tuesday, Feb. 12, for the group in the Bark River area. They will meet at the home of Mrs. Louis Racicot.

The other group of leaders will meet at 10 a. m. Wednesday, Feb. 13, at the home of Mrs. Shirley Buckmaster, 1413 Minnesota avenue, Gladstone.

Leaders have been notified of a list of articles to bring to the meeting, including any fabric which has been dyed at home, two articles from the home which are to be dyed, a note book and pencil, and a color book and color chart if they have them.

Aeronautical Maps Of American Type In World-Wide Use

Washington, Feb. 6—New aeronautical maps of much of the world will be of the American type, using the same symbols and color markings, the Civil Aeronautics Administration announced here today. It was decided also at an international meeting in Montreal, CAA says, to base the World Aeronautical Charts on the standard American one-to-a-million-scale military aviation chart.

The use of these familiar symbols and color markings will be helpful to American pilots flying aboard, Flyers of many Allied countries have used or are familiar with American type aeronautical maps. This fact makes their world-wide adoption logical.

Some changes will be necessary, Kenneth Keefe of CAA states, to meet special conditions found outside the United States, and were agreed upon at the international meeting. For example, he said, forest areas in England and much of Europe are sharply defined and permanent. Therefore, the meeting recommended use of green to show these wooded areas on European charts, whereas green will continue to symbolize land areas close to sea level on most charts of this hemisphere.

Towns marked with their names on roofs or other conspicuous spots will have their names underlined, Mr. Keefe explained, with magenta on the world air maps. Markers outside of town limits will be indicated by an "M" in a square.

STRONG HEREMany Local Residents
Plan To Take Up
Aviation

Raring to go—fuming, in fact at the legalistic red tape holding up the local landing field's status as a fully qualified airport—are many local residents anxious to get into training that will eventually qualify them for pilot licenses and the privilege of availing themselves of the right to the down planes on what has been rated one of the best sod flying fields in Michigan.

This interest has been heightened by the fact that a pilot instructor is now a resident of Manistique. Donald Pelletier, formerly of Escanaba, has moved here and will take charge as instructor as soon as the necessary permission to use the field is given.

Pelletier has a flying record of over two thousand hours, is a graduate of four civilian training schools, holds an unlimited commercial airman's license, has an unlimited instructor's rating, has soloed approximately 50 students in Upper Michigan, was a contract flight instructor in the U. S. Navy for fifteen months. He entered the army as an air cadet and received his honorable discharge about five weeks ago. He had passed his examination for United States Air Lines pilot before entering the air service. He is married and has one daughter.

Among the residents of the area who expect to actively take up aviation, some of whom have already made solo flights, are Harold Bowman, Charles Matchinski, William Heltman, Robert Hoar, Robert Hastings, James Ostrander, Ed Jackson, C. F. Anderson and Dr. James Fyvie.

This interest and ambition, it is claimed, means that many privately owned planes will be owned and operated here before long.

Exacting

During the war period the demand has been for large quantities of milk. Consequently, we had to sacrifice quality for quantity, says Joseph L. Heirman, county agricultural agent, and he warns that milk producers must remember that this is 1946, that the war is over and that it's time to pay strict attention to milk quality. The wise dairyman, he says, will plan his quality program now and be set for a long time profitable dairy enterprise.

Mr. Heirman emphasizes these points as important in the furtherance of a milk quality program: First, select methods and equip-

Clipping and currying will prove helpful in this respect. Third, start out with clean equipment... and then keep it clean. And finally, cool milk promptly after milking and hold it at forty degrees Fahrenheit.

Additional suggestions may be obtained from the college bulletin called "Producing Quality Milk." This is extension bulletin 245, "Producing Quality Milk," which can be obtained by writing to the bulletin room, Department of Public Relations, Michigan State College, East Lansing, or by asking for a copy at the county agent's office.

TO SUPPLY VETS WITH QUININE

Remedies Available To Veterans Suffering With Malaria

Veterans who have served in tropical areas and suffered attacks of malaria, sometimes suffer recurrences of this disease and stand in need of atabrine or quinine, says Leonard Mulhaupt, Schoolcraft county veterans' counselor. He advises any local veterans who may be so troubled to apply at his office in the First National Bank building and he will see that they are supplied these necessary remedies without cost.

Provision is made by the government to supply all malaria afflicted veterans with the proper remedies without cost.

Mulhaupt also announces that in the very near future he will make arrangements to visit every township in the county and hold meetings at convenient points of contact—mostly school houses—where veterans having problems may confer with him. He adds that it is strictly essential that veterans bring with them their discharge papers or certified copies of them.

Advance notice of these meetings will be published in the Press.

Soviets Perfect New Microscopes

Moscow—Soviet electron microscopes, one developed during the war and used in war work, and an ultraviolet microscope, both designed at the Soviet State Optical Institute, were described here at a recent meeting of the Academy of Sciences, at which special tribute was paid to 80-year old Soviet agrochemist, Dmitri Prinshtikov, and to 75-year old Alexander Baikov, distinguished Soviet metallurgist.

The importance of physics, chemistry and technology, as distinguishing features of present scientific development, was emphasized in various papers presented at the meeting. The highlight, however, was Alexander Lebedev's paper which reviewed the development of the electron microscope.

The staff of the Optical Institute, he said, designed and built an electron microscope in 1940 that magnified objects 10,000 times. An improved model built at the end of the war magnifies 25,000 times and one twice as powerful will be ready for use in the near future.

The ultraviolet microscope was described by E. Brumberg, its designer. It is extremely sensitive, he said, and will detect the presence of infinitesimal quantities of many substances.

Another scientist discussed substances with high and superhigh dielectric conductance, and described what he called a new material, titanite of sodium, which, he said, possesses high insulating and magnetic properties.

TWO HURT IN FALLS ON ICE

Women Suffer Fractures In Falls Wednesday Evening

Several Gladstone residents were injured when they slipped on ice and fell Wednesday evening.

Mrs. John Norton Sr., suffered a fractured hip when she fell while walking from the home of her son, John Jr., 802½ Michigan avenue to her home at 803 Dakota avenue. She is confined to St. Francis hospital.

Mrs. Hagle Quarnstrom fell while walking from her house to enter an auto and fractured a wrist.

Several other persons sustained sprains.

Recently Joanne Morgan, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Morgan suffered a fractured right leg in a skating accident at the playground rink. It was the second one in the Morgan family to sustain bone fractures in the past month, her father, breaking his wrist.

Billy Green, son of Mrs. Ina Green, broke an ankle skiing at the park Sunday and is confined to St. Francis hospital. Donald Dishnau, Escanaba, and several others were also injured in skiing accidents.

Molecule Study To Further Medicine, Biology Knowledge

Rochester, N. Y.—Great advances in fundamental biology and medicine will come from thorough investigation of the sizes and shapes of molecules of body chemicals and of drugs and germ-killing chemicals, Dr. Linus C. Pauling, director of the Gates and Grellin Laboratories of Chemistry of the California Institute of Technology, declared at a meeting of the American Chemical Society here tonight.

Antibodies, substances formed in the body to fight invading disease germs, are protein chemicals with very large molecules, Dr. Pauling pointed out. They react with the antigen of a disease germ or with a protein substance like egg white to form a precipitate in the same way that many of the ordinary precipitates the chemist meets in his work are formed. Dr. Pauling gave as an example the precipitate formed by a solution of a silver salt with a solution containing a cyanide ion. The anti-body-antigen precipitate, moreover, can be redissolved by addition of an excess of antigen just as the silver cyanide can be by an excess of cyanide ion.

The great specificity of interaction between antibodies and antigens, each antibody reacting only with its corresponding antibody, is like another familiar chemical process, the formation of a crystal of a substance from a solution, Dr. Pauling pointed out.

After the antigen is injected into the body, antibody molecules are formed in such a way that a region of the antibody takes a configuration that mirrors a portion of the surface of the antigen molecule.

Antibodies, substances formed in the body to fight invading disease germs, are protein chemicals with very large molecules, Dr. Pauling pointed out. They react with the antigen of a disease germ or with a protein substance like egg white to form a precipitate in the same way that many of the ordinary precipitates the chemist meets in his work are formed. Dr. Pauling gave as an example the precipitate formed by a solution of a silver salt with a solution containing a cyanide ion. The anti-body-antigen precipitate, moreover, can be redissolved by addition of an excess of antigen just as the silver cyanide can be by an excess of cyanide ion.

I sincerely endorse this drive as I personally know this office has already rendered inestimable service to the returning veterans.

We may all show our appreciation for their task well done by giving generously.

St. Joseph Cagers Oppose Gladstone At Bonifas Gym Tonight

Trojans Seek UPSET VICTORY

Braves Have Impressive Record; Reserves Will Play

The St. Joseph Trojans will meet the Gladstone Braves at the Bonifas gymnasium tonight in a game that highlights the home schedule for the Trojans. The reserve teams of the two schools also will meet in a preliminary game.

The Braves defeated the St. Joseph team at Gladstone in the second game of the season and have gone on to hang up an impressive record of victories. The Trojans, on the other hand, have had an on and off season but they reached the heights of perfection last Sunday when they knocked off the sterling Lourdes team of Marinette.

Primed by that victory, the Trojans' hopes have risen sharply and they see a chance for another upset at the expense of Gladstone tonight.

Couch Fred Boddy used only six men against Lourdes last Sunday night and they probably will see most of the action against the Braves tonight. They are Roberts, McCarthy, C. Hinn, D. Lewis, Fassbender and Strophich.

Gladstone has been defeated only once this season, their only setback coming at the hands of the Eskymos. Their victories include a narrow decision over Ishpeming.

Three games are on tap for tonight in the Bonifas gym with a pair of grade school teams, the eighth and ninth, to play the Junior High team at 6:30; the reserves of St. Joseph and Gladstone to meet at 7:30 and the varsity battle to begin at 8:30.

BRAVES READY
Gladstone, Mich.—The Braves travel to Escanaba tonight to clinch with the St. Joseph Trojans in the second of a home and home series of games.

Gladstone won the first game 29-27 on their home court but only after rallying in the second half. The first half was a nip and tuck affair which saw only two points between the teams at the whistle. The parochials will have the advantage of playing on their own floor this time which coupled with the experience gained during the season should make them tough competition.

On the starting lineup probably will be Gillis at center, Olson and Haglund at forwards and Capt. Engstrom and Olive at guards.

Also making the trip will be Kee, Sly, Valind, Pearson and Richards.

Ohman Ill As Eskymos Play At Iron Mountain

The Escanaba high school basketball team will be without the services of Don Ohman, rangy forward, when the Eskymos take the floor at Iron Mountain tonight against the Mountaineers, Coach Jim Rouman announced yesterday.

Ohman has been out of school since Monday because of illness and it was learned definitely yesterday that the sharpshooting forward, one of the highest scorers on the team, will be unable to make the trip to Iron Mountain today.

Either LeRoy Finn or Jack Schils will start in place of Ohman, with the remainder of the lineup consisting of Jack Finn at center, Ross at forward, Scott and Dufour, guards. Other lads who will make the trip with the varsity squad are Roger Peterson, Lough and Besson.

The Eskymos defeated Iron Mountain, 41 to 31, here earlier in the season, but playing on the Mountaineers' court without the services of Ohman complicates the picture for tonight's game. Coach Rouman is worried that the situation is ripe for an upset and that the Eskymos may sustain their first defeat of the season after scoring nine consecutive victories.

Iron Mountain absorbed a terrific shellacking at Norway Tuesday night, 58-28, their third consecutive defeat, which is the longest losing streak in the school's history.

EMERALDS PLAY SOO TONIGHT
Will Seek To Avenge Stinging Early Season Defeat

Manistique.—Another game on a David and Goliath basis is scheduled to be played at the local gymnasium this evening when Manistique high school plays Sault Ste. Marie, rated as one of the most formidable teams in the Upper Peninsula.

The Emeralds fared badly when they met the Soo team in their first game of the season, but Manistique at that time was practically a green team while the Lock City five had its organization practically intact from last year. Manistique has developed into a pretty good team since then and may reasonably be expected to give a good account of itself tonight.

Also scheduled, as a preliminary to start at 7 o'clock, is a game between the Manistique Reserves and the basketball team from Grand Marais. The main game will start at 8:30 o'clock.

Between halves of the main game will be a tilt between the girls' gym classes of the seventh and eighth grades who are being coached by Miss Helen Moritz, girls' physical education director.

There will be a flag ceremony immediately preceding the main game conducted by the high school band under the direction of Joseph Giovanini.

Referees for the evening will be Leon Schram, track coach, Escanaba; and Ray Ranquette, coach at Harris.

Eight Upper Peninsula boxers who qualified for the Milwaukee Golden Gloves semi-finals in the tournament here Monday and Tuesday will leave Monday morning, Feb. 11 at 9 o'clock for Milwaukee, it was announced yesterday.

The group will meet at Dewey's Service Station and will travel to Milwaukee in automobiles. The boxers are required to report at the Golden Gloves gymnasium in Milwaukee for weighing in and physical examinations between 5:30 and 7:30 o'clock Monday evening.

The semi-final matches will be held Tuesday night, Feb. 12, at the Milwaukee auditorium. Survivors will meet Friday night in the finals. Upper Peninsula boxers who survive the Tuesday competition will remain in Milwaukee until Saturday. Boys eliminated on Tuesday night will return Wednesday.

Jim Gallo, Sault Ste. Marie trainer, will serve as second for the upper peninsula fighters. Dewey Meunier and Harland Yeland, of Escanaba, will accompany the group to Milwaukee. Meunier will return Wednesday with any of the peninsula boxers eliminated in the Tuesday night competition.

All boxers who qualified for the Milwaukee trip are requested to send their Milwaukee entry forms to Ken Gunderman, Escanaba Daily Press, immediately. Parents' signature is required for fighters who are under the age of 21.

The boys who have qualified for the trip and will be matched in the Milwaukee zone semi-finals are: Bob Provo, Escanaba featherweight; Don Little, Escanaba lightweight; Dwight Meyers, Escanaba welterweight; and Jim LaLonde, Sault Ste. Marie welterweight; Ray Sabuco, Escanaba middleweight; Robert Barnes, Manistique, open division welterweight; and Leonard Sharkey, Manistique, open division middleweight.

All expenses for the trip to Milwaukee, including meals, lodging, etc., will be borne by the Escanaba Lions club, co-sponsors of the Escanaba Daily Press, of the Upper Peninsula Golden Gloves tournament.

Hunting And Fishing
By Sid Gordon

THE HUNTER
Most hunters are entirely too selfish and should make a new resolution for 1946—and keep it. They should resolve to "Teach a beginner each year." With so many soldiers returning by next fall, there is excuse for not giving one of them a day or two in the woods or on the waters with you.

Some of the lads who return will resolve never to touch a gun again but most of them will want to hunt. Next to a man taking his own son out with him, he can give no greater pleasure than by asking some one else's son to go along with him on a hunting trip.

To a young man, there is something memorable in the vast knowledge given him by an experienced hunter. The average hunter really does not know or appreciate how much of the ways of animals he has stored up in his years of hunting.

Young men are not dumb, nor do they need a lot of "do this and don't do that" stuff when they are taken along. Words are not so necessary for them as they are quick to "catch on." Every moment of an older hunter teaches them as much as, or more than words.

Their young eyes are keen and when you approach a thicket, a point of land or any "edge" with caution, their brain works fast and they have a mental picture of such spots. Your actions show that you expect game right there. All such places will be of interest to them forever after.

Just a day or two given to one of these lads in your duck blind will teach him how decoys should be set out, how to handle his gun with safety and what to expect in the habits of ducks. Another day, after sharpshooting, will give him a pattern to follow in his future hunting.

If you can make room for him in the car on a squirrel or a rabbit hunt, he'll pick up much game lore just listening to the boys argue before arriving at the hunting ground.

Then there is the deer hunting season. Look back upon your own early days and remember how grateful you were when an old timer "talked deer" when you were around. How a young man looks back forever to those days in which the older men took him along to the hunting camp.

And if there is a little bit of the love of nature in you, you've no idea how your words concerning the trees, the land and the habits of everything in the woods is treasured in his memory.

No Decision Reached On $55,000 Salary For Hank Greenberg

Miami, Fla., Feb. 7 (AP)—President Walter O. Briggs of the Detroit Tigers today evinced a maybe-but-possibly-no attitude on a $55,000 salary for Hank Greenberg.

Asked if the big slugger would again receive baseball's highest salary, Briggs replied: "Well, I don't know. We'll just have to wait until George Trautman and I can discuss the matter." Trautman is the club's new general manager. Briggs acknowledged that Greenberg's hitting was an important factor in winning last season's series for the Tigers, but added "Hank's legs were bad-very bad."

STATE COLLEGE TRACK CAPITAL

East Lansing, Feb. 7 (AP)—Beginning Saturday for a one-month term, Michigan State College can justifiably be called the winter track capital of the Midwest.

The 24th annual Michigan State Relays will be held in M. S. C.'s Jenison fieldhouse Saturday and will attract top track and field talent from ten schools in this part of the country. One month hence, March 8 and 9, the fieldhouse will be the scene of the annual Central Collegiate Conference indoor meet, and Spartan Coach Karl A. Schladerman, in charge of both meets, said today indications were that at least 15 schools would compete in the C.C.C. carnival.

Looking over the entry list for the week's relays, Schladerman singled out two of the steepest races on the program—the 75-yard high hurdles and the 75-yard dash—as top-notch attractions. He said a close race should result in the dash between Larry Baynard, Ohio State Negro sprinter, and Bob Swain, speedy University of Michigan runner.

The Buckeye ace nosed out Swain last week in a 60-yard race, but Schladerman thinks the Wolverine dashman may prove faster over the longer distance.

Michigan's Elmer Swanson, Ohio State's Dick Seibert, Notre Dame's Bill O'Neill, Western Michigan's Ed Taylor and M. S. C.'s Bob Carri are expected to run a close race in the high hurdle event.

$3,000,000 Gate Seen For Louis-Conn Fight

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

New York, (NEA)—Those who suspected that Joe Louis and Billy Conn would box on a barge in the East River may now rest assured that they will not. Mike Jacobs had vaguely hinted that the battle might go most anywhere from Rochester to Rio de Janeiro, where the men would have been paid off in coffee.

Some dirty no-good even suggested that Fargo, N. D., had a swell chance because of its proximity to Moorhead, but good old Mike wouldn't let New York down.

Besides, he says that several conferences with boxing commission chairman Col. Eddie Egan convinced him that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey wanted the scrap held in New York City. It is perhaps just as well for the promoter and principals that the governor didn't want the fight staged in Albany.

"Conn is delightful," remarked Jacobs, hanging up the telephone after advising the challenger in Hot Springs that Yankee Stadium was the site, June 19, the date.

With a pay day like that coming up, I wonder how the old Broadway ticket scalper expected to find the Pittsburgh Collier Ad.

Strangely enough, Jacobs and Leland Stanford MacPhail met for the first time in closing for the battle ground. Uncle Ed Barrow was in command of the Yankees the last time there was anything in the way of outdoor mitt monkey shines going on, Jacobs and Larry MacPhail. There's a pair to draw. Check your money at the door.

"MacPhail cooperated in every way," announced Jacobs, as they wouldn't for 10 per cent of $3,000,000 or more. The Yankees will get enough to buy Hank Borowy back, and then some.

Jacobs said he would promote fights at the Polo Grounds this summer involving the holders of the feather, light, welter, middle and light-heavyweight championships. That is provided he can think of their names, and can you name them off hand?

It really makes little difference. One Rocky Graziano sold out Madison Square Garden at a $12 top for his third consecutive $100,000 gate in a bout with one Sonny Home, another club fighter. Jacobs could fight his matchmaker, Nat Rogers, and pack the jern.

Minimum for Louis and Conn will be $5. Jacobs refuses to reveal what the top tariff will be, but you can probably multiply that by 20.

Fresh money is still around. The suckers are there to be taken. Jacobs disliked the story brought back from Portland, Ore. by editor Nat Fleischer of The Ring magazine that Louis was booed in exhibitions with Big Boy Brown in the Pacific north-

Silver Gloves Bouts Tonight At Rec Center

Escanaba's young pugilists will trade blows tonight in 20 Silver Gloves bouts at the city recreation center building at 7:30 o'clock.

The public is invited and there is no admission charge.

Jerome Deloria, who has been coaching the boys, whose ages range from five to 16, asks the fighters to report at the recreation center promptly at 6:30 o'clock so the bouts can get under way on time.

Deloria will referee the matches and there will be decisions on every bout.

Bouts will consist of three rounds of one minute each. Timekeeper will be Art Peterson.

Pairings for the bouts tonight and the weights of each fighter are listed below:

1. Bobby Boucher, 30 pounds, and Billy Boucher, 30 pounds.
2. Wayne Cartwright, 45, and Jerry Boucher, 43.

Dempsey To Referee Fights At Detroit

Detroit, Feb. 7 (AP)—Sal Bartolo of Boston, holder of the NBA's world featherweight championship, will be risking nothing but his prestige when he steps into the Olympia ring here tonight against Indian Paulie Jackson of Reading, Penn., and gymnasium experts are convinced he'll have his hands full handling the tough Indian.

Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champ, will referee their 10-round main event, matchmaker Nick Londe said tonight after contacting Dempsey in western Michigan.

Prospects are for the second $25,000 gate in two weeks at Olympia when Bartolo, the boxer, mixes it with Jackson, the fighter. More than 11,000 fans paid more than $28,000 last week to watch O'Neill Bell take a top-heavy decision from Fritz Zivic.

Ace Miller, of Toledo, who a week ago defeated Bill Eddy, Flint lightweight, is scheduled to meet Emmet Grier, of Detroit, in a 10-round semi-vedup on the Friday card. First winner, of Grand Rapids, and Willie Watkins, of Detroit, are down for six rounds in the prelims.

Wild Contest Won By Spartans, 46-45

East Lansing, Mich., Feb. 7 (AP)—Michigan State college won its eighth basketball game of the season here tonight, shading Wayne university 46-45 in a wild contest which saw the lead change hands 10 times.

The Spartans won in the last three seconds of play on a dog shot by Guard Don Waldron, who led the Spartans attack with 12 points.

This, track officials believe, not only will protect the horses from outside tampering but will meet the plea of trainers that, while rules of racing charge them with full responsibility over their thoroughbreds, there are moments when an outsider might have access to an open stall.

Season Is Opened By Spartan Boxers
East Lansing, Feb. 7 (AP)—Michigan State college's first boxing team since 1943 was to leave Friday to open its season Saturday against the Ottumwa, Iowa, Naval Air Station team.

The meet will mark the bow of M. S. C. Boxing Coach Lou Zarza, former Spartan football end and boxer, who recently joined the staff.

Two, four, five, eight spare.

By NED DAY

Five Time Match-Game Champ
When the first ball barely touches the head pin, a two-four-five-eight spare usually results. To make this spare the shot should be played from the right corner by bringing the ball full against the right half of the two pin, which takes out the four and eight. The ball continues on to knock down the five pin.

In some instances where the ball comes in light it may hook sharply enough to also take out number eight.

Because the pins are so bunched it is not so important to take into consideration deflection, for even if the ball hits a fraction of an inch either way the fall of the pin first hit will likely knock over either the five or four, depending on which side of number two the ball hits. Besides, the ball itself will carry through to make the other pins by contact. The three-five-six-nine spare is made the same way, except because it is on the other side of the alley, it must be played from left center, the ball hitting full against the right half of the three pin.

Precautions Taken To Prevent Doping Of Racing Horses

New York, Feb. 7 (AP)—A plan designed to lock the barn door before there is any chance of stimulation of a horse on the day he races, thereby protecting the annual, its trainer—to say nothing of the two-buck better—will be put in use on the five New York state race tracks next season.

Extensive tests by the Jockey Club (New York) have shown that doping a horse, must be done within two hours of the race to be effective. Under the plan to be used next season, every horse will be guarded throughout the entire day of his race by a specially locked mesh screen in front of the stable door. Only the trainer will have a key.

This, track officials believe, not only will protect the horses from outside tampering but will meet the plea of trainers that, while rules of racing charge them with full responsibility over their thoroughbreds, there are moments when an outsider might have access to an open stall.

Fully approved by the New York state racing commission, the plan obviously is aimed at overcoming the virtual epidemic of stimulation which hit racing last year.

COMMERCIAL FLYING SAFER

Ground-Based, Airborne
Radar, Radiobeacons
Are Proposed

Washington, Feb. 7.—Improved ground-based and airborne radar equipment, especially designed for the purpose, and a network of land-based long-range radiobeacons were proposed here today as means of making commercial flying safer by Henry Busignies of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation. He described what he termed a radical new system of airport traffic control and navigation along airways, called "Navar", and a proposed worldwide system of long-range radio-beacons called "Navaglobe" for short.

The proposal was made at the week-long Army-sponsored conference here, attended by military and civilian aviation experts, at which technical systems of making all-weather flying safer are being discussed.

The Navar system, he stated, would project an electronic "moving picture" on a chart in the airport control room, showing the location and identity of every plane in the sky within 80 miles of the airport.

Navar, developed by Mr. Busignies, is, he said, an application of most of the types of radar proven during the war. In addition to the constantly moving radar picture in the ground-based control room, the pilot of a Navar-equipped plane will see on his own radar scope his own and all other aircraft near his position and altitude, in relation to each other and to the ground, in one map-like indication, he stated.

The ground radar installation will show the planes in the area on three scopes. Mr. Busignies explained, each scope covering a certain category of aircraft. "Member" planes, he said, are those equipped with Navar and tuned to the local control station; "guests" are planes whose Navar sets are tuned to another station; and "strangers" are aircraft without Navar. At the ground Navar station the images of all planes in all three scopes are transmitted through a specially designed projector onto a large map of the area on a wall screen.

In addition to the lateral positions of planes in the area, he continued, the figures on the map representing member planes will show adjacent groups of letters and numbers identifying each plane and telling its altitude. The equipment permitting this feature is based on the IFF (identification-friend or foe) automatic radar method used by aircraft during the war. This IFF equipment answers automatically certain "stock" questions about flying conditions without attention of the crew.

The complete coordinated picture of all aerial activity in the control area is retransmitted by the ground station and picked up by the Navar-equipped planes, he further explained. The airborne radar scope is viewed through a translucent map of the control area so that the pilot sees his own and other planes in relation to the ground as well as each other.
